

“All of the news that fits the page”

20001 Edition

al-Qaida Agent Nabbed!

An alert patriot in Harker Heights, Texas has identified an al-Qaida mole hidden deep in the heart of Texas. Osama bin-Cat, also known as Ali Boo Boo has allegedly engaged in domestic terrorism and gathered intelligence on U.S. military forces around the globe. MAJ V.J. Tedesco III, an officer stationed at Fort Hood, alerted local law enforcement officials and the FBI shortly after September 11th. Officials are not providing any details, but sources close to the investigation report that Ms.bin-Cat has posed as a pet in the Tedesco household since 1989. Federal agents believe that bin-Cat has cleverly manipulated Tedesco's spouse and child into believing that she is simply a neurotic cat who hates men in uniform, when in fact she has covertly collected intelligence about American military activity at posts in Germany, Fort Riley, the Pennsylvania State University, West Point, Fort Leavenworth, and now Fort Hood. Source report that Ms. bin-Cat uses her litter box to pass encoded messages to her handlers operating in trash collection departments across the nation. MAJ Tedesco has also described years of direct attacks on his person and property to the officials investigating this matter. In his only public comment on what some in the press are already calling “Cat-gate,” Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld said, “This just goes to show you the kind of sick people we are dealing with... they are patient, small, fury and absolutely evil!”

Armed & Dangerous

Terrorists and criminals be forewarned! There is a new force in the fight against Evil; Rachel Tedesco, Hapkido Yellow Belt! She can out punch any plush toy and break pre-cut plywood with a flying leap. You go girl!

Lianne Promoted from Servant to Lady-in-Waiting

After nine years as a low-level servant with the household of Her Royal Highness Princess Rachel von Tedescovia, Lianne Tedesco was recently promoted to the rank of Lady-in-Waiting. Lianne's waiting responsibilities are distributed throughout the day. She waits to gently wake the Princess (sometimes called either Janet or Suzann's Revenge behind her back), then waits to serve her breakfast, and then waits to take the Princess to school. Lianne then waits to shepherd the Princess to her after school activities (gymnastics, sewing, Hapkido, etc.) where Lianne is expected to attentively observe the Princess and produce emergency treats and or beverages at any indication of imminent starvation or dehydration. Lianne then waits for Rachel to get in the shower which provides Lianne with about an hour of peace while Rachel sings and dances our hot water down the drain. After the squeaky clean, but reenergized Princess emerges from her shower, Lianne enters the final phase of her day-in-waiting, waiting for Rachel to release her for the night. When her promotion was announced, Lianne commented, “It is at difficult job, but somebody has to do it and he's never home.”

In Other News This Year:

- Nothing is for sure yet, but we expect to all remain here in the greater Fort Hood area at least until the Summer of 03.
- VJ continues to enjoy his busy life as the Executive Officer of 2-8 Cavalry, a tank battalion here at Fort Hood.

Whole Family Photographs Well for Very First Time!

