Semper...Running!

After last year's triumph over pain and common sense, Lianne has continued her maniacal pursuit of marathoning. She ran the ING Marathon in Atlanta this spring and the Marine Corps Marathon in DC in October. VJ (aka Marathon Support Man) likens his situation to living with an addict but Lianne seems quite pleased with herself as she scampers towards the next adventure.

HAIL TO THE LION(ESS)!

*HAIL! Alma Mater, with your white and blue.
PENN! STATE! forever, molder of men (and women),
FIGHT! for her honor — FIGHT! — and victory again.*
Thanks to her hard work in high school, Rachel recently accepted admission to Penn State's University Park Campus next Fall. This pleases her parents to no end and proves beyond a shadow of a doubt that 9 months of being bounced on her head and 17 years of brainwashing had the intended effects. Otherwise, her Highness, the Princess of Tedescovia, continues to live a life of happiness, comfort and good fortune. She had a particularly enjoyable summer with an excursion to see family on the "Left Coast," a trip to New York, and a week at "Swine Beach" in Destin, Florida. Sadly, she has recently come down with a case of "Senioritis" that will make Spring seem longer than it really is. Rachel's parents are considering adopting the French Republican Calendar to extend our dwindling opportunities to serve her majesty.

VJ Swallows the "Blue Pill!"

Communists & Terrorists Sigh in Relief

Your editor has accepted his fate and resolved to trade his "little boy job" for the serious work of corporate capitalism. VJ has severed his ties with the "operational Army" and has indentured himself temporarily as an oarsman on the Mothership. After three very interesting but exhausting years as a planner at Forces Command, he will join the Army staff in the Pentagon next summer. The details are still unresolved, but VJ hopes to finally learn a marketable skill by laboring in G8 - the Army's link to the "Military Industrial Complex." The logistics of the move are complicated by the housing market, career concerns, etc., but God willing the Tedesco Family (Empty Nest Edition) will reside under a common roof in Northern Va. by this time next year. Meanwhile Lianne is hiding the cutlery and dreaming of a happy and lucrative future as a Capitalist's wife. For his part, VJ is learning to count and trying to understand how grown men dress.

Labor & Management in Bed?

Twix and Heather have staged a year long sit down strike and slowed the production of their trademarked "Litter Critters" in response to what their spokeswoman describes as inadequate compensation and declining benefits on the job.

Family officials insist they continue to offer a competitive wage and benefits package but have been forced to trim incentives in light of the global recession. For their part, the cats insist that they are starving and they BOTH deserve a minimum of two full packets of Friskies Seared Fillets per day. Negotiations to resolve the impasse continue and analysts predict that senior female management will ultimately give in to the cats' demands. Big surprise!

Merry Christmas & Happy Holidays!

As you celebrate this year, we ask you again to take time to remember our wounded and those who have made the ultimate sacrifice for your freedom. May 2010 bring victory, peace, happiness, and togetherness to you and your loved ones. Remember that "we sleep safely in our beds because rough men stand ready in the night to visit violence on those who would do us harm."
